

BLOOD TRANSFUSION SERVICE OF NAMIBIA

- VACANCY -

Medical Technologist (RUNDU)

Working a flexible forty-hour week, the Medical Technologist will carry out a variety of laboratory investigations such as blood grouping, crossmatching and separating blood into components and testing for Transfusion Transmissible Infections. There is a strong possibility of overtime, including work on Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays and day / night shift work.

Minimum requirements:

- Bachelor of Medical Laboratory Sciences or Biomedical Sciences degree in Clinical Pathology.
- Registered with the Health Professions Council in Namibia in clinical pathology, registration in blood transfusion will be an added advantage
- One-year post-qualification experience.
- Basic computer skills
- Code 8 driver's license
- Namibian citizen
- Commit to a 1-year training course and write Blood Transfusion Board examinations to specialize in Blood Transfusion – Training will be done in Windhoek.
- Relocation and permanent placement to Rundu will be after board exams have been completed.

Competencies: High level of confidentiality, good interpersonal and organizational skills, mature, adaptable, quality orientated, continuous learning.

Remuneration: A market-related salary, with benefits is subject to negotiation.

Terms & conditions for the Internal Advertisement:

1. The position will not be advertised in the local newspaper.
2. Any suitable candidates who possess the relevant (minimum) qualification, experience and competencies are advised to apply.
3. Regrettably no family members to NAMBTS employees will be considered.
4. Closing date for CV's to reach HR Department on or before 23 June 2023
5. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted.
6. Only emailed applications stating the position applied for with certified supporting documents will be considered.

Please send an updated CV and supporting documentation, stating the position applied for via email only to: vacancies@bts.com.na